A FABULOUS WEALTH

So Formidably Powerful As To Be Almost Beyond
Description

(In the following, first of a series of five exclusive articles, I. N. S. correspondent Lee Van Atta describes America's most fabulous investment abroad. It is an investment so vast in scope, so compelling in economics as to make it virtually unprecedented in the history of U. S. enterprise abroad. The full story of that investment and enterprise is told here for the first time.)

By Lee Van Atta

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
DHAIRAN, SAUDI ARABIA,

Sept. 8.—(INS)—All night long the flaming oil fires cast an orange glow over the blank loneliness of desert darkness.

By day, hot winds fan the limestone sands into snake-like eddies of hot, listless dust which clogs your throat and nose and seeps into your eyes.

A bare four miles away, is the Persian Gulf. There is no coolness from it; the waters, scorched by the sun of centuries, are as hot as the unyielding torment of the Great Desert itself.

But in the midst of that desert wasteland lie the riches for which men have waged wars: the riches of black gold, of oil: fuel and power for the markets of the world.

And in the midst of that desert wasteland is American big business: capitalizing on an area so fabulously wealthy, so strategically essential, so formidably powerful in a world of competitive economies as to be almost beyond description.

America, by concession from the government of Saudi-Arabia and by treaty (and fact) of close friendship with King Ibn Saud, owns those riches.

It is all but incredible to assess the economic (and thus also strategic) importance of this area.

Spokesman for Penn Auto and Sport Store, announces that more gas masks will arrive at Penn Auto and Sport Store, 227 Mill street, about this afternoon. These gas masks are the sensational item of Mill street, being sold by Penn Auto and Sport Store as one of their grand opening specials. Over 2000 gas masks were sold in the first two days from the store's opening.

Penn Auto and Sport Store apologizes to the thousands of children and parents who were disappointed in not receiving their gas masks last week; but, with the new shipment arriving today, all children should be satisfied. Penn Auto and Sport Store is the new automobile and sporting goods supply store on Mill street. (Advertisement)

Slave Labor

SAMUEL A. PETERGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

It was hard to believe that Congress had passed a law to make men slaves. I had thought the Civil War had ended such foul business. But there it was in the big headlines of the labor press: "Congress Enacts Slave Labor Bill."

I went out to see the slaves. There they were going to the mills and mines, rattling their chains (tire chains); on their arms were shackles (wrist watches); and their heartless masters had cut out their tongues (only their leaders could speak). Fleeing across the Ohio, in dead of summer was Aunt Eliza treading on ice (cubes); Uncle Tom's cabin was part of a slave labor

FACTS ABOUT THE ELECTION

Date: Tomorrow.

Polls open: 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. (daylight time).

Who can vote: All registered voters can cast at least one ballot in this election. This is true whether they are registered Republican, Democratic or non-partisan.

How many ballots? Two in most election districts. Three in Bristol, Doylestown, Morrisville Boroughs and in Southampton Township.

What are the ballots? Most important is the ballot for the special election of a Congressman to succeed the late Charles L. Gerlach, who died last May.

THIS IS AN ELECTION! All voters will receive the identical ballots. They can vote for either candidate. Democrats and non-partisans can vote for Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, just the same as Republicans.

All voters will receive copies of the referendum on bond issues, where these are being held. In Bristol, there are two bond issues on the same ballot—$67,000 and $35,000, for a total of $102,000. These bond issues, which were unanimously recommended by Borough Council and endorsed by such civic groups as the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, and the Mill Street Business Men's Association, are to meet the costs of street improvements, parking-lot improvements, and enlargements to the water and sewer systems.

How about the primaries? Republicans and Democrats are voting for their nominees. In the regular fall primaries.

Republican voters will receive a Republican primary ballot, showing the uncontested county ticket and the candidates for nomination for local office. Democratic voters will receive a similar ballot, showing the Democratic candidates for nomination. There are a number of contests in the Democratic nominations.

Democratic and Republican registered voters in Bristol will receive all three of the ballots—Congressional, bond-issue and primary.

Registered non-partisan voters in Bristol will receive the Congressional and bond-issue ballots, but of course will not be permitted to vote in the party primaries.

Outside of Bristol, and in communities where there are no local bond issues, Democrats and Republicans will receive two ballots—the Congressional ballot, and their party primary ballot.

In these areas, the non-partisans will receive only one ballot—that for the Special Congressional Election.

Sample Congressional ballots have been made available to all qualified voters by the Bucks County Republican Committee. Study your copy of this ballot. As it says on it, it is "one of the most important ballots you will ever cast!" Learn how to mark it before you go to vote, and take the sample ballot with you when you go to the polls.

And DON'T FORGET TO VOTE.

As Others See Us...

Press comments from outside Bucks County on Tuesday's Election

Arthur Krock in New York Times:

"The eyes of the nation will be on the voters in this district when they go to the polls... The returns should offer a guide to the outcome of the general elections in 1948..."

"The issue... can be stated: '...do you want to return Congress to the allied control of the Democratic national administration and the LEFT-WING GROUPS, particularly organized labor?'"

Daily Worker (Communist)

"You'd think a pig was being slaughtered... Why? You've heard of the 80th Congress? You've heard of the Taft-Hartley Bill? The people up here are the first to get a chance to do something about it at the polls... Storch is pledged against the T-H law and the progressive legislation shelved by the 80th Congress..."

(*) Meaning, of course, laws which the COMMUNISTS think are "progressive."

Editorial, Philadelphia Inquirer:

"The election... is of major moment because... the CIO has made it the starting point in its ambitious drive to gain control of Congress next year... Into this busy, prosperous district CIO spellbinders and propagandists have moved, carpetbag and baggage. They have taken over the Democratic organization lock, stock and barrel."

Editorial, Philadelphia Inquirer:

"The unionists, spearheaded by a phalanx of paid hands sent in by the CIO... are figuring that many Bucks-Lehigh citizens may stay away from the voting places..."

"On the issue the CIO moguls have raised, we don't believe Bucks-Lehigh voters will stay away from the polls; they'll march there and demonstrate convincingly, by electing Lichtenwalter, that they believe in honest and fair labor regulation and a permanent end to the abuses which brought a huge majority of the American people to revolt against union boss dictatorship last year."

Approximately 75 per cent of marriage licenses granted in Bucks county for the month of August were for couples in their twenties. This shows that there was a decided decrease in the number of teen-age and elderly couples applying for licenses. Of a total of 131 applications received by the Clerk of the Orphans' Court, at Doylestown, 81 were for those in their twenties.

During the months of June, July and August, 475 couples applied in Bucks county for marriage licenses. This summer's total exceeds the 1946 total of 414 applications.

In the three years prior to last summer, the Orphans' Court did

Editorial, Philadelphia Bulletin:

"Union leaders are bent on making a demonstration of their political power in this election... To persuade workers, union or unorganized, that the Taft-Hartley Law is inimical to their interests, it is necessary for them to create some confusion about its effects. The Labor Act, to be sure, takes away some of the autocratic powers of union officers... And it bars Communists from helping to run the unions..."

"The Eighth District election may prove to be a small-scale test of the extent to which aggrieved labor leaders can fool labor itself..."

Editorial, Philadelphia Bulletin:

"The returns will be watched to see how far CIO and other union leaders are successful in making wage-earners believe that a law which curbs the power of union officers is injurious to the interests of the men who pay the union dues..."

"The Taft-Hartley Act... calls for a greater measure of democracy in the conduct of union affairs. It excludes Communists from union management. It requires an accounting for the expenditure of union funds... These restrictions give the union man a break."

Editorial, Allentown Chronicle:

"The Communist menace in the labor movement is no pipe dream. The campaign against it, in and out of labor's ranks, is no witch hunt, as Communists would like to have the country believe..."

"To date we hold no knowledge that this candidate (Storch) has taken the courageous step of renouncing all Communist support..."

Editorial, Allentown Call:

"Titanic national forces feel urged to be engaged in this single, national election... and have selected Lehigh-Bucks as the battleground for the advancement of their interests and ideas..."

"Let the people of the country know that all, not a few, of the electors in the Bucks-Lehigh District take national affairs seriously..."

DISGRACEFUL POLITICS

The campaign which has just been put on in this District in the name of—but not by—the Democratic Party, is one of the most disgraceful and fraudulent political campaigns in history. It has been an insult to the intelligence and integrity of the men and women who make up the voting strength of Bucks and Lehigh Counties.

Fortunately, the shoddy methods appear about to bring their own retribution. Assuming only that the voters who have their minds made up will do their patriotic duty of voting, the stage is set for a landslide of disapproval of the interlopers and their campaign.

As a matter of fact, it may develop, when the ballots are counted, that the invading labor bosses not only failed to make a dent on the independent and Republican vote in the two counties—but they have actually lost most of the labor vote and most of the Democratic vote!

Burial of Wm. Stahl, Sr.,
Arranged for Wednesday

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Sept. 8.—Services have been arranged for William S. Stahl, Sr., of Railroad avenue, who died in Temple Hospital, Philadelphia, on Friday. A service will be conducted at the funeral home of J. Maurice Tomlinson, here, on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, with further service and interment at Salem Evangelical Church, Upper Milford, at 2:30 p. m. Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday evening.

Mr. Stahl formerly resided at Emmaus. His late grandfather instituted the Stahl pottery at Powder Valley, which is renowned throughout the United States. The late Mr. Stahl had made his home here for 31 years, he having been employed by Schutte & Koertling Co. for 25 years.

A brother, Isaac, of Powder Valley, survives, as do also the following daughters and sons: Miss Erna E. Stahl, Cornwells Heights; Mrs. Frances Miller, Robert P. and William Stahl, Jr., of Emmaus; and Albert G. Stahl, of Allentown.

IS HALLAHAN "GRAD"

Today is a "red letter" day in the life of Miss Florence Helen Artin. This day she entered the convent of St. Agnes, Dominican Sisters, at Sparkill, N. Y., as a novice. It was the occasion of a dream fulfilled, one that was long cherished by Florence.

She attended St. Mark's school here, and later entered and subsequently graduated from Hallahan Catholic Girls' high school, Philadelphia. At Hallahan she took an interest in the activities of the symphonic band and symphony orchestra, in both of which she performed her part on the oboe.

Florence is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Artin, of Farragut avenue. She has a brother, John Michael, who at present is residing in San Francisco, Cal., being associated with the San Francisco Electric Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Artin and their children are communicants of St. Mark's R. C. Church.

Speaker Martin
Endorses Lichtenwalter

Warm indorsement of the Hon. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Republican nominee for Congress in the Bucks-Lehigh District in tomorrow's election, has been received from the Hon. Joseph W. Martin, Speaker of the House of Representatives in Washington.

In a telegram to the Courier, Speaker Martin said:

"As Speaker of the House of Representatives, I have followed with keen interest the splendid campaign of Franklin H. Lichtenwalter in the Eighth Pennsylvania District.

"He has made a vigorous and forthright fight in defense of American Constitutional Government and free enterprise. He has met courageously and intelligently the challenge of Communism and chaos.

"He would make a worthy successor to my good friend, the late Charles L. Gerlach. We need in Congress the ablest men we can find to carry forward the great fight for fundamental Americanism, as opposed to the aggressive designs of world Communism.

"I sincerely hope that every true American in the Eighth Pennsylvania District will go to the polls next Tuesday to vote for Franklin H. Lichtenwalter for Congress."

ONE OF THE MOST DRAMATIC AND IMPORTANT POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS
NEARING CLOSE IN BUCKS COUNTYVoters Tomorrow Will Go To The Polls To Select A Congressman To Succeed The Late Charles L. Gerlach — Campaign Has Attracted Nationwide Publicity and Outcome Will Be Watched With Keen Interest

One of the most dramatic and important political campaigns in American history closes today, as the Bucks-Lehigh voters prepare to go to the polls tomorrow and elect a successor to the late Congressman Charles L. Gerlach.

The names of two candidates for the office will appear on the ballots. The Republican nominee is the Hon. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, five-term Assemblyman from Lehigh County, and Speaker of the House since the first of this year. Opposing him is Philip Storch, newspaperman and press agent, who served as combat correspondent during the war.

Involved in the campaign, however, have been issues of such magnitude as to dwarf the human figures on the stage.

The Storch candidacy has been seized upon for the tryout of a new type of political "blitz," in which a nationally-organized band of CIO labor bosses, armed with huge warchests of union dues and staffed with professional political specialists from outside the district, have attempted to wrest control of the Bucks-Lehigh seat in Congress away from the men and women who live in the two counties.

This represents a profound challenge of the entire American system of representative government under the Constitution, and in the field of political morality is still more debasing than anything which happened in the Missouri scandal which came so close to the President's door last year.

The scope of this issue is one of the factors which has drawn the eyes of the entire nation to tomorrow's election.

TRIP TO POCONO MTS.

An attractive wedding was solemnized on Saturday at three p. m. in St. James' Episcopal Church, when Mr. Gerald C. Walterick, son of Mrs. John Walterick, of Edgely, took as his bride, Miss Lois Marjorie Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carter, North Radcliffe street.

The soloist was Miss Margaret Fallon, who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractively attired in a gown of broad satin with sweetheart neckline, long, pointed sleeves and featuring a bus-trail back and train. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby breath.

Attending Miss Carter as maid of honor was Miss Patricia Walterick, Edgely, sister of the bridegroom; and Edgely, sister of the bridegroom; and Edgely, sister of the bridegroom.

If men and money from outside the district can high-pressure an election in this district, they can do so again in any other Congressional district in the country. This means that the CIO political organization can take control of Congress away from the American people, thereby undermining the basic theory of the American government.

The program attempted here is an extension of the Communist-invented PAC scheme, which hit the rocks so badly in the Republican landslide last year that it had to be overhauled.

Destruction of representative government in this nation would throw wide the door to Communism. The Communist Party is well aware of this, and has had representatives and workers on the scene, as well as following the campaign closely through its national organ, the Daily Worker. Through this newspaper the Communists have strongly supported the Storch campaign.

High-lighting the CIO labor boss invasion here is the fact that a Federal law had just been passed to take labor bosses out of Federal Elections, and to rip the Communists out of the labor unions.

This is the Taft-Hartley Act, which specifically forbids the spending of union funds for the election of candidates for Federal office, and forbids such candidates to accept

Nation-Wide Search On for Girl and Uncle

Philadelphia—A nationwide hunt was in progress today for an 11-year-old Philadelphia girl and her 22-year-old uncle believed hitch-hiking to California.

The child, Isabelle Mallon, a seventh-grade pupil, failed to return home Saturday after shopping in a neighborhood store, according to her father, Bernard M. Mallon.

Mallon told police that the child's uncle George O. Neill, who worked on a farm near Doylestown, had left the house with a suitcase the same day.

Police said Neill's employer had stated Neill quit his job on Saturday to "go out west."

Mallon, a housewife, has two other children, Bernard, Jr., 13, and Patricia, 3 years.

ENGLISH IS IT

A hundred delegates from 30 nations assembled in New York for a world conference on the teaching profession agreed that English has become the world's most important language.

Formerly French was the second language of most people whose contacts called for command of a language in addition to their native tongue. It was recognized as the language of diplomacy. German was the second language of many scientists who felt that they had to read German scientific works long before they appeared in translation.

Teachers at the conference reported that by common action they have advanced English to the point at which Esperanto and other synthetic languages were aimed—to enable people of all nations to share a common language.

One of the difficulties encountered in the postwar effort to bring about international harmony is the language impediment to orderly discussion. Efforts to overcome this difficulty do not account for the amazing growth of English courses in schools throughout the war. The movement has been speeding up for several years.
But representatives of the United Nations will certainly encourage the movement as they swing toward English as the world language.

American and British scientists have so far outdistanced the Germans, French and Russians that they have forced alert scientists everywhere to acquire a command of English. The English-speaking people should not, however, give up their interest in other languages.

ALARMING SYMPTOM

It is becoming commonplace that the price of automobiles has been hiked fifty or a hundred or two hundred dollars. To the millions whose prospects of owning a car rest on the million-to-one chance of taking down first prize in a drawing, the periodic announcements of increased prices of automobiles are merely of academic interest.

But to the same millions it is a personal blow to learn that the nickel cup of coffee is no more in the enlightened city of Boston.
Restaurant operators there say that increased costs of the bean, the cream, the sugar and the china compelled them to boost the price to ten cents.

If such a venerable institution as the nickel cup of coffee should not be permitted to vanish from the earth, perhaps a compromise could be worked out retaining the five-cent rate for a cup of black coffee, with a cent or two added for each spoon of sugar and each shot of cream. Or, perhaps, it could be sold by the ounce, any style.

Yes, indeed inflation is here when the nickel cup of coffee is in dire peril of vanishing. Come to think of it, though, prices of everything else, including wages, are at least 500 per cent higher than they were when the nickel cup of coffee first became popular.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Oct. 22, 1896. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The Methodist Episcopal Society of Bristol, Pa., has owned three edifices, and on the coming Sabbath, October 25, 1896, will dedicate the fourth building to the worship of the Almighty.

The present edifice is the fruit and outcome of earnest sowing and practical thought. It has been built during times most trying to the nation.

Ground was broken August 19, 1895. The first stone was placed in the cellar wall Sept. 17, 1895. The corner stone was placed Nov. 17, 1895. The old church was vacated July 14, 1896. The chapel of the new church was first used July 19, 1896.
The dedication of the entire building will occur Oct. 25, 1896.

John K. Young has been chairman of the building committee. He has had the aid of John G. Street, John H. Yost, Charles M. Foster,
and the pastor, Rev. C. E. Rorer.

The German carp which used to infest the waters of the Delaware and its tributaries so plentifully last year, have almost entirely disappeared. Isaac Silverman, who shipped these fish to the New York markets in great quantities last year, has been unable to purchase a single fish these last few months.

Work was commenced last Monday of cleaning up the bricks on the site of the Providence Hosiery Mills preparatory to the erection of a new building. The new structure will be built on the old foundations, one story high.

A large band of Gypsies, consisting of about 25 wagons, came to Bristol last Saturday to take the ferry boat for Burlington.

(Following items from Gazette of October 29, 1896.)

James Fry, a canal boatman, was knocked off his boat while passing under one of the bridges on the 11 mile level, last Tuesday, and received some bad bruises.

The election returns will be received on Tuesday night, at the rink, free. It was the intention of the managers to charge an admission fee of 25 cents, as they had advertised by circulars. The feeling of our citizens was aroused so much over the policy of turning the receiving of the election news into a money making scheme, that a few of our prominent citizens took the matter in hand and made the necessary arrangements to have the rink free on this occasion.

The stand-pipe of the Bristol Water Works was completed yesterday. Its construction has been under way for several months. It is 152 feet high, being 12 feet higher than the old one.

Mr. Charles Estell, of Hulmeville, a member of Hermione Lodge, was buried in Beechwood Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Eleven snapshot photographs of the surrounding country were taken from the top of the new stand-pipe for the Gazette office yesterday, through the kindness of the foreman of the construction of the pipe, who made the ascent, and Dr. Joseph deB. Abbott, an expert amateur photographer.

A beautiful set of silver collection plates has been presented to the Bristol M. E. Church by Master Kenneth Wright, son of William S.
Wright, Esq. The Bible and hymn books were given by Mr. John Enlish of Philadelphia, and a large reclining chair for pastor's class by members of the Wednesday evening class.

Disgraceful Politics

The type of campaign which the outsiders gave to this district was well dramatized by the figure who has been the most conspicuous and virulent of the carpetbaggers.

He is State Senator Elmer J. Holland, of Pittsburgh, a professional CIO press agent, who has delivered the main addresses at a long list of Storch political rallies.

When he read a newspaper editorial condemning carpetbaggers and the invasion of this district by CIO stooges and money, he flew into such a burst of frustrated rage that—in the presence of an audience at Doylestown—he tore the newspaper to tatters, threw them on the floor, stamped on them, and spit on them!

But that didn't change the facts. He was living proof of the truth of the editorial that made him so angry!

It would take a column to list, and a page to answer in detail, all of the fraudulent misstatements which the CIO press agents have turned loose in this campaign on behalf of Storch.

The invasion began because the labor bosses thought they saw a chance to "smear" the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. This smear was dishonest, because it consisted wholly of using the tag, "Slave Labor Law," coupled with a frantic effort to keep union members from learning the details of the Act.

This backfired. Presently it developed that the working men and women of this community not only were learning the truth about the new law, but further that three out of four of them approved the various beneficial provisions in it.

The Storch-for-Congress committee promptly reversed itself, and began seeking frantically for other issues. They were willing to let the Labor Law subject drop—to pretend that the labor bosses had come here, or sent their hired help, or flooded the counties with campaign material printed and paid for outside the District, simply out of love and admiration for Mr.
Storch.

At the outset of the campaign, the Storch backers boasted of the extent of support from outside the district. They said that the "national issues went beyond county lines," and hailed the invaders with pride.

They even built their main campaign strategy around these invaders. They planned a huge Labor Day rally at Allentown as the big gun of the campaign. Originally, this was to have attracted 75,000 persons. The announced speakers were to be Murray, Green and Whitney.

But the invasion also backfired: a wave of resentment spread throughout the district over the appearance of these interlopers.
All the "big-shots" backed out. They sent substitutes. And the voters stayed away in droves. The crowd which did appear was estimated at about 2500—and observers reported that more appeared to be interested in the free beer than the speeches!

But the fact remains that at the "big" meeting of the Storch campaign, all three of the speakers were outsiders to the district—and that the Democratic party itself was left out in the cold! Most of the publicity for this meeting referred not at all to the Democrats—did not even identify the candidate as running on the Democratic Party!

Despite this record, the Storch committee made another flipflop. It hastily formed a last-minute partnership with such Democratic party officials as were willing to "go along"—and began heaping abuse on those who had pointed out the fact that the Storch campaign and financing had been furnished by outsiders who didn't even consider themselves Democrats.

Another bland falsehood repeated again and again was that several newspapers, including this one, had refused to accept Storch advertisements. This is wholly untrue. As a matter of fact, the reader can prove it to be untrue by glancing through the columns of this issue, where he will find an extravagant statement of the Storch campaign.

This advertisement celebrates a sort of shotgun wedding between the CIO-financed Storch-for-Congress independents and the skeleton of the Democratic party.

The outside Storch "independents" were willing enough to run a campaign as long as they thought they had a chance to win.
Now they are frantically looking for partners in misery as they face what is going to happen to them tomorrow.

The onlooker citizen, who has seen these two historic counties, proudly tracing back to the time when William Penn brought modern free government to American shores, doubtless has been a bit dazed to find his homeland turned into a sort of boxing ring where prizefighters from far off tried to slug it out.

Nauseated as he must be by the type of politics brought here by these interlopers, he can not afford to overlook his own responsibility in the matter.

There is one way, and only one way, to destroy the smearand-lie brand of politics which the invaders have tried out here.
That is to smash them down to defeat at the polls!

In addition to the innumerable other great problems in the campaign, those who believe in clean politics, in campaigns based on true and accurate statement of the issues, can uphold that principle by going to the polls tomorrow to and the bridesmaid was Miss Fran-headpieces fashioned of flowers. The attendants carried old-fashioned

A reception was held on the lawn

Inside Your Congress

camp (Federal Housing project), and Simon LeGuer, president of a steel corporation, I saw standing at a massive desk in the baronial oak-paneled office of the United Mine Workers and heard him about his orders to Spartacus, the leader of the slaves (John L. Lewis).

I saw Spartacus L. Lewis escape from the coal mines (in a chauffeur driven limousine) and hide, with 70 comrades, in the cold crater of Mt. Vesuvius (old colonial mansion in Alexandria, Va.). There he trembled at the minions of Wall Street (United States Marshals) put the bloodhounds on his trail. I prayed for a new Lincoln to set him free.

I remembered Dred Scott, the negro slave, who was ordered back to chains by the Supreme Court. I recalled Lincoln's words: "They have closed the iron doors upon him and now they have him bolted in with a lock of a hundred keys." I wondered how slaves thus imprisoned could ever escape without wading through rivers of blood.

Then I read Labor's "Dred Scott Case"—the one brought by the President of the United States against the modern Spartacus last December in the "reactionary" Supreme Court (appointed by Franklin Delano Roosevelt). Could Spartacus escape from his fetters? He did. He escaped. And after the "slave labor" bill was on the books he won the most favorable slave contract in all history! I marvelled at his achievement.

As slaves are property, and can own no property, I wondered at the tens of millions of dollars in the strong-boxes of the slave organizations. What had happened to those treasure chests? Had they been confiscated? And the hundreds of slave newspapers and magazines? Had they been suppressed and their editors locked up? Had the spokesmen of the slaves in Congress been silenced? Had a national holiday—Labor Day—been wiped off the calendar?

Living in their "slave quarters" (to which millions had fled) what had happened to their standard of living? It simply could not be true, as reported in the "Toy Press" that their standard of living was the highest in the world, that their life expectancy at birth was 65 years, twenty years longer than in Russia where men were "free." Glorious Russia! As the old-time slaves had fled to Canada, it was certain that millions of these newly-made American slaves would emigrate to Russia where the "workers," the proletariat, had put their masters underfoot.

One of the worst things about this "slave labor" bill which has "turned back the clock a century" is its effect on the minds of the slaves. Incredible though it may seem, a slave labor union actually has sued another slave labor union, for $200,000 damages for engaging in an "unfair labor practice," under this same "slave-labor bill." They are actually invoking the "protection" of the bill that made them slaves. Strange and comical. (This is the case where a few feet of telephone cable to a New York airport has laid incompleted for over two years as the two unions of "slaves" have fought for the job of laying it.)

So confused have the slaves become that although they denounce the "slave labor bill," yet when asked, point by point, whether they favored this and this and this, they answered, "yes." Yet the things they favor are in the bill that makes them slaves!

—SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL.

legic and military) reserves which lie beneath the sands of this weird, mystic mid-eastern land.

Weigh the figures: The proven oil reserves and resources of sprawling America are five billion barrels. The already proven oil reserves and resources of Arabia are more than 20 billion barrels—and there is no end in sight.

An average producing American well yields about five barrels daily. The lowest producing well in Saudi Arabia turns out an easy 50 barrels daily.

Production today is 260,000 barrels every twenty-four hours—more than one-tenth of peak production in the entire state of Texas.

And there are only four fields and less than 60 wells owned by America in all of this sun-tormented country! Here for the first time, I have seen the U. S. State Department and the private capital of America so closely integrated in purpose and action as to make it a warming commentary on government-business relations.

What is money and profit to one company is money and profit to the United States. What one company makes possible through sound relations and intelligent enterprise is strategic significance and economic dominance to America.

In a paragraph, that is what has happened here in Saudi Arabia.

The fields are owned by four companies: Standard Oil of California, Standard of New Jersey, the Texas Company and the Socony Corporation.

Their production agreements benefit, economically, two nations directly. The United States collects King Ibn Saud's government (which means Ibn Saud) collects a concessionaire's cut on every barrel of oil produced.

More than that, however, Saudi Arabia meets America's fuel commitments abroad.

This nation's oil output provides 70 per cent of its production to U. S. naval forces in the Atlantic and Pacific. The remainder flows to Australia, the United Kingdom, Italy, Sweden, South and East Africa, Argentina and Japan.

One of Most Important Political Campaigns In Bucks is Nearing Close

help of this kind. This law has been scoffed at by the interlopers.

One of the most astonishing features of the campaign has been the craven attitude of officials of the national government, who have lifted not a finger to stop or to punish the boasted defiance of the criminal provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. This parallels their attitude in the Missouri scandal, where also nothing was done by the Washington authorities until after all the incriminating evidence had been spirited away by safe-crackers.

The attempt by outsiders to take over the control of the District's Congressional seat is not the only sensational and challenging phase of the campaign.

Equally disturbing as an attack on law and order and as an onslaught on Constitutional government, is the fact that the campaign has been used by the CIO invaders as a drive to "smear" the Taft-Hartley Act, and to destroy it before it has been given a fair trial.

If a well-organized and well-financed group of politically-minded labor bosses can successfully defy and destroy one Act of Congress by such methods, then they can annul any other law which gets in their way. This would undermine the entire structure of government under the Constitution, in which Congress, as the people's representatives, is supposedly the supreme law-making agency of the nation.

It would speed the day when this country would become what Russia really is, a Communist labor-boss dictatorship.

The biggest fight over the Taft-Hartley Act, thus far, has been over the provisions which would bar Communists from holding office in labor unions. Imported into the district, on behalf of the Storch campaign, has been thousands of dollars worth of publicity material holding that this and other provisions on the law make it a "slave labor law."

In point of fact, polls among union workers show that three out of four of them approve all the key provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. Moreover, analyses of the law show it to be a Bill of Rights for working people, and reveal that its principal new points are protection of the worker and the public from high-handed acts by union officials.

Still another sensational development, which again could have far-reaching results, is the taking of the Storch campaign out of the hands of the Democratic party organizations in the two counties, and its seizure by an independent, CIO-financed Storch-for-Congress Committee.

During most of the campaign, this Committee made no pretense of support or co-operation with the Democrats. The largest rally of the Storch campaign, a Labor Day picnic at Allentown, was advertised with publicity material that did not mention the Democratic party, and did not identify the candidate as belonging to that party. The three speakers were labor officials from outside the district, each representing a still more important labor official who also lived elsewhere—and none of them showing any interest in the Democratic Party as such.

The extent of the split between the Storch Committee and the Democratic Party to which Storch nominally belongs is shown in the case of the Taft-Hartley Law itself. The destruction of this law was made the principal objective of the Storch campaign from the start. Yet the Democratic party is fully committed to the support of that law by the fact that on the final roll-calls in Congress, 126 Democrats voted for it compared with only 93 against.

The taking over of the Democratic party by outsiders, many of whom did not even pretend to be Democrats, is a symptom of another interesting phase of the campaign—one which also had made it nationally interesting.

This has to do with its bearing on next year's Presidential election. Those who invaded this district are the national group which has been most clamorous for a Third Party. Dissatisfied with both the Democratic and Republican parties, and unwilling to commit themselves finally with the one political party which has consistently upheld their ideas, the Communist Party, this group has used the local campaign as a sort of trial balloon to see whether a Third Party movement would have a chance nationally.

The repercussions of the kidnapping of the Democratic Party here will, of course, be felt in many other parts of the country. It will unquestionably emphasize the deep division between the old line or Jeffersonian wing of the Democratic party, and the Left-Wing radicals. The control of the next Democratic national convention is one of the prizes which may be decided by the outcome of the election here.

From the Republican point of view, the campaign has been a challenge to the party's record as well as to the entire American way of government.

The Representatives and Senators who passed the various important pieces of legislation during the recent session were attacked here under circumstances which made it impossible for them to come and defend themselves.

The local campaign has had all the issues which would be involved in a full-dress national election—with this difference, that in such an election every Republican Congressman and Senator, and all the other national spokesmen of the party, would have been on the air, in the press and on the stump to explain and defend the party's record.

In the district, the Storch Committee came armed with a mass of propaganda patiently gathered at the national level, at a vast expenditure of time and money, and lavishly printed without regard to cost. They had the benefits of national organization and limitless financial drawing power—plus a conspicuous amount of eye-winking by the national government concerning corrupt practice laws.

In meeting this attack, the Bucks County Republican Committee undertook to outline and set before every voter in the county the various issues mentioned above.

This was done principally by the one medium which was practical, in view of the vacation season and the lack of time for a more conventional campaign. This medium was the mails.

Campaign literature, an outline of the Taft-Hartley Act, a sample ballot, and a number of letters and postcards, have been sent to all Republican voters, and special mailings also were made to the Democratic registrants.

The Republican campaign probably is unique in that no similar effort at universal enlightenment of voters on complex political questions has ever been undertaken on so large a scale.

The Republican standard-bearer in the fight, Mr. Lichtenwalter, has based his appeal to voters on the defense of law and order, the home-rule right of this Congressional district to choose its own Representative without outside interference, and the protection of the Constitution from further Communist undermining.

One effect of the sensational type of campaign made against him is to obscure the question which would have been the main issue in other circumstances—namely, which of the two candidates is best qualified to represent the district in Congress.

Mr. Lichtenwalter has no reason to fear facing this issue. His record in the Pennsylvania Legislature is unmatched. In three years after his first election to the House, he became Majority Floor leader, and in five years more he became Speaker of the House—usually considered the third most important office in Pennsylvania. He is the youngest man ever to hold that high position.

These accomplishments are abundant proof of his ability, skill and capacity in the very field in which a Congressman specializes—that of law-making.

The Capitol Whirl

A. F. L. leaders from other counties to support Philip Storch, Allentown newspaperman running on the Democratic ticket.

Speaker of the House, Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, of Center Valley, his Republican opponent, has solicited votes chiefly on the strength of his legislative career which started in 1928 when he was first elected to the House. . . . He was returned for every term since then, elected majority leader by his colleagues during 1943-44 and 1945-46 and Speaker for 1947-48. . . . Labor forces have swamped Allentown with pro-Storch literature and CIO-AFL propaganda.

A defeat for the labor-backed Storch would be a severe setback for the union's announced cause.

One of the many things the General Assembly accomplished during the 1947 session without much fanfare was to build the framework for an intensive survey of educational needs in Pennsylvania. . . . A 15-member committee will scout the formal education picture and draft legislation by November 15, 1948, to improve the lot of many colleges and universities. . . . An 11-member committee named by the Joint State Government Commission will survey the public school field. . . . While it is too early to predict the general tenor of the reports, it seemed reasonably certain that the recommendations would include increases in state financial grants to schools and colleges. . . . During the last session of the Assembly, educators appearing before legislative committees tried to get across the warning that school and college physical needs outripped financial consideration given by lawmakers.

"Connie" Walker Observes Anniversary at A Party

HULMEVILLE, Sept. 8—On the occasion of her ninth birthday anniversary, "Connie" Walker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Walker, of Southampton, was feted on Saturday afternoon. The party was held at the home of her grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Harry Walker and Miss Mabel Walker, here.

The guest group was inclusive of: "Peggy" and "Betty" Bilger, Gladys Phillips, Margaret Haas, Loretta Neltzel, Dorothy Holzworth, Edith and Nancy Dunlap, Marie Riley, "Connie" Mather, Harriet and Helen Dolu, Barbara Snyder, "Lee", "Jill" and "Jack" Walker.

The girls enjoyed a program of games, with ice cream and cake then being served. "Connie" was presented with gifts as mementoes of the affair.

Decrease Seen In Teen-Age Licenses

very little August business. In 1945 96 licenses were granted in August; in 1944 there were 72 applicants, and in 1943, 87 couples applied. This August was better than average.

It was noticed that no 16-year-old girls applied, and there were no brides in their seventies. No bridegrooms under eighteen applied. Twenty-seven of the 131 female applicants were in their teens; 16 of them were between 30 and 40; five were in their forties, one was fifty and one was past sixty. Twelve of the men were teen-age bridegrooms; 30 of the prospective husbands were in their thirties; six men were past 40; and there were four men in the fifty and sixty age group.

The number of divorcees remained average with 15 divorced men and 15 divorced women applying. The average age of female divorcees was 31, and that of men was 30. This is the lowest average age for both men and women that has been recorded this year.

Disparity in ages was lacking this past month when only two couples were found to have a great age difference. A 60-year-old Glenside swain courted his 41-year-old sweetheart from Ambler. Another Casanova, 40 years of age, applied for a license with his 29-year-old bride-to-be. Both were from Philadelphia. The oldest couple, both of whom had been married before, were 64 years old. The man from Trenton, N. J., and his prospective wife was a Bucks County resident. A Germantown couple in their fifties was the second oldest couple to apply. The youngest couple, both 18 years old, came from Philadelphia.

BITTEN BY DOG

CROYDON, Sept. 8—James Seip was taken to Harriman Hospital by Bucks County Rescue Squad members during the week-end, he having been bitten by a dog.

Fawkes-Riebel Ceremony Is Saturday Event Here

At the hour of four on Saturday afternoon, a late summer wedding was solemnized in the Harriman Methodist Church, when Miss Mary Riebel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Riebel, Harrison street, became the bride of Mr. Harry W. Fawkes, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Fawkes, Croydon.

The Rev. William C. Carroll, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman, with Mrs. Carroll playing organ selections throughout the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gown in a dress of white bridal satin, entrain, with full skirt draped in front above six tiers of lace and fastened with small clusters of valley lilies. The long bodice fastened in the back with small buttons. It had long sleeves, marquisette yoke trimmed with a lace ruffle, and featured a round neckline. Her fingertip veil was fastened to a crown of pearls. She wore white satin slippers, and carried a bouquet of white roses and Easter lilies.

Miss Doris Riebel attended her sister as maid of honor, and was attired in a pale green floor-length gown of marquisette over taffeta with bustle back, short puffed sleeves and round neckline. Her short veil was fastened to a cluster of flowers. She wore silver slippers and carried a colonial bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Miss Vida Mulholland and Miss Dolores Walter, whose gowns and headpieces were styled like that of the maid of honor except Miss Mulholland's was of yellow tone and Miss Walter's of orchid. Both wore silver slippers and carried colonial bouquets.

Mr. Harold Carr, of Croydon, attended the bridegroom as best man; while Mr. Francis Pierciey and Mr. Thomas Sorenson, both of Croydon, served as ushers.

A reception and supper followed in the evening at Sons of Italy Hall, Wood street, with 200 attending.

A honeymoon will be spent at Wildwood, N. J., and upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Fawkes will reside with the bridegroom's mother in Croydon. Mrs. Fawkes travelled in a grey suit with red accessories.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Riebel, was attired for the ceremony in a gray print dress with black accessories, while the groom's mother, Mrs. Fawkes, was attired in a grey dress and navy accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Bristol high school, class of 1945.

This Message is for BRISTOLIANS ONLY

Tomorrow

every thinking citizen of Bristol will go to the polls, and in addition to voting for candidates he'll be asked to vote for, or against, a proposed bond issue for Bristol to the extent of $102,000.

What for?

is the natural question he or she will ask. Briefly, the bond issue is mainly for capital improvements to your town—to Bristol. The money will be spent for things that will improve, build and beautify Bristol. It will be spent for street improvements, increased sewer facilities, for increased water facilities, for improvement to the parking lot at the rear of Mill Street. All are necessary items if Bristol is to continue its normal, happy growth and development. The improvements are unquestionably urgent and important.

Why?

Simply because in the natural course of events every progressive town and city grows and expands. The new highway, for example, has made it necessary to cut streets into it. New buildings are in the offing. We want new buildings. It will help relieve the acute housing shortage. And with new buildings we must provide water and sewer facilities. And you all know well that the parking lot at the rear of Mill Street can stand improving. Certainly, Borough Council has been aware of this, too. There has been just one little drawback on the part of any action—the necessary funds. And not only will the parking lot be improved. Funds will be earmarked from the new bond issue, if you approve it, for a general beautification of the parking lot area, including that portion which adjoins the river . . . it will take on the aspects of a park in time to come.

A Substitute?

That, too, is a sensible question. And the answer is yes, there is a substitute. Councilmanic authority is sufficient that it could raise your taxes next year to secure the necessary funds. But your tax bill would be terrific. So the substitute is "out." By issuing bonds the tax load will be spread out over many years. It is a painless method of helping Bristol grow.

A Suggestion

On the strength of the above information it is just good sound business sense to approve this bond issue . . . and we suggest that you vote "Yes" on the special ballot that will be handed you at the polls tomorrow.

LUMP IN BREAST

Several years ago my right breast became swollen and painful, the pain seemed to extend down my arm and was increased whenever I did any work. Then I noticed a lump in the breast and was terrified, imagining all kinds of things. My family doctor advised letting it alone for a time. This did not please me. I got in touch with Dr. Bond, the Chiropractor, as my husband had received several treatments. I asked Dr. Bond if he could help me and was told it was possible if it was not malignant. After an examination I was told it was curable and treatments were given. My breast has been normal since that time. Thanks to Dr. Bond and Chiropractic.

DEMOCRATS OF BUCKS COUNTY

Fellow Americans:

The Congressional campaign now ending is like nothing ever seen before.

From the REPUBLICAN point of view, it has been simple. Through the regular party machinery for nominating candidates to fill vacancies, we chose (unanimously) the Hon. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, and submitted his name to the voters on his outstanding record and proven ability—on his unusually successful experience in just the line of work which a Congressman does.

BUT FROM THE DEMOCRATIC POINT OF VIEW!!!

There is the place where all precedents have been unhappily shattered!

First we watched while outside interests handpicked your candidate for you. Then we saw a burst of publicity through labor publications tying this candidate, not to the Democratic platform with which you are familiar, but to the CIO platform—and principally to the plan of SMEARING A LAW WHICH A MAJORITY OF DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS VOTED FOR! (The Taft-Hartley Labor Act, supported on the final roll-calls by 126 Democrats, opposed by 93.)

Then we saw the Congressional District invaded by men representing Pittsburgh, Detroit, New York and Moscow—moving in on the Democratic campaign, elbowing the Bucks-Lehigh Democrats into the back-ground, taking over the campaign with an independent outfit called the "Storch-for-Congress Committee."

Press-agents hired by these interlopers took charge of your party's publicity, and began turning out newspaper releases which didn't even bother to refer to your party by name—didn't even identify the candidate as running on the Democratic ticket!

In all sincerity, we'd like to ask you Democrats: WHERE DO YOU COME OUT IF STORCH WINS?

You have a party with glorious traditions—oldest political party in American history, tracing back to Thomas Jefferson, and including such figures as Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson. In this Bucks County area have lived some of the most distinguished exponents of your political faith—General W. W. H. Davis, Judge Henry P. Ross and Judge Harman Yerkes, to name only a few.

Your party has always been firm in its support of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights which your founder wrote into the Constitution. You have believed always in the upholding of law and order. You have believed in home-rule—in the right of each political subdivision to choose its own public officers without outside interference.

THE CANDIDATE RUNNING UNDER YOUR PARTY'S NAME SUPPORTS NONE OF THESE PRINCIPLES!

The nature and purpose of his campaign is the defiance of laws passed by Congress under the Constitution. His whole campaign has been a violation of the home-rule principle; the main stump-speeches on his behalf have been, not by the candidate himself, and not by Democrats of this community whom you know, but by rank outsiders. You know that's true, just as well as we do.

IF YOU WIN, WHAT HAVE YOU GOT?

You'd have one more vote in Congress masquerading as a Democrat—but it would be a man chosen, run and elected by outsiders, pledged to a platform far different from what you believe in, and answerable to a band of power-drunk men who live far beyond the borders of this district.

IF YOU WIN THIS ELECTION, YOU LOSE YOUR PARTY!!!

Don't kid yourself. The only way you can save your party is for "your" candidate in this race to lose. Otherwise the credit will go to the interlopers—who aren't Democrats at all, and don't even pretend to be!

In this campaign, your party has been taken over! A VOTE FOR STORCH IS A VOTE OF APPROVAL OF THIS KIDNAPPING OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY!

Think it over!

There are three things you can do—take your choice.

First is to "take it"—to take it and like it; swallow your pride and convictions—to give your party's abductors a vote of confidence by casting your ballot for Storch.

Second is to STAY HOME. We wouldn't blame you. In a sense, this isn't your fight; it's between the Republicans and a band of invaders whose main objection to the Taft-Hartley Act appears to be that this new law would SMOKE THE COMMUNISTS OUT OF THE LABOR MOVEMENT!

The third thing: TO VOTE ON THE REAL ISSUES—WHICH ARE THE PRESERVATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT, RESPECT FOR LAW AND ORDER, AND THE RIGHT OF HOME-RULE IN OUR CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT!

Vote for the rebuilding of your own party along the line YOU believe in, by the only way you can possibly cast such a vote:

VOTE FOR FRANKLIN H. LICHTENWALTER ON SEPTEMBER 9.

Sincerely yours,

STORCH

Official Democratic Candidate For CONGRESS

THE MAN

PHIL STORCH was born in 1911 in Allentown, Pa., to Henry Peter Storch and the late Diana Rees Storch. Mother Storch was for many years the soprano soloist of Allentown's Handel and Haydn Society, founded and still directed by her brother, Will Rees. Phil's father is well known as a merchant tailor.

PHIL STORCH attended the Allentown Schools without interruption until 1928 when the Hoover Depression forced him to leave school and get a job to help support his family. The beloved Daniel W. Hamm, retired Principal of Allentown High, the man who helped to form young Phil's character and personality, fittingly enough is the man who today, as the Chairman of the Storch for Congress Committee, is helping to set the pattern to send Phil Storch to Congress.

PHIL STORCH married Hilda May Wentzel, a life-long school-mate, in 1933. They have two children, Diana Helen (11), who will enter 7th grade at Raub School this year, and Richard Frederick (9), who is a pupil in the 5th grade at the Franklin building. Dick sings in the choir of Grace Episcopal Church, where the family are members of the congregation.

HIS EXPERIENCE

PHIL STORCH joined the staff of the Morning Call as a news reporter in 1931. In his years of covering human events as a reporter, his education was broadened far beyond the limits of school books. He gained wide experience in affairs of politics, farm and rural problems, police court work, industrial relations, and city, state and federal governmental operations. His fellow workers at the Call-Chronicle early recognized the fine idealism, intelligence and sincerity of purpose in Phil Storch. Three times they elected him President of the Lehigh Valley Newspaper Guild.

PHIL STORCH enlisted in the Marine Corps, serving as a sergeant and as a front-line combat correspondent for 19 months, going through the Marshall, Carolines, Okinawa and Ie Shima campaigns. Along with Ernie Pyle, Phil covered the sledge-hammer advances of the Marines. He came home more determined than ever to carry on the fight for peace and democracy.

PHIL STORCH naturally takes an active part in veterans' affairs. He is Pennsylvania Vice-Commander of the Marine Corps League and was a delegate to the State Convention of both the V. F. W. and the American Legion. He is also a member of the Navy Club.

PHIL STORCH has been active in the Boy Scouts of America for many years, dating back to his own Scout days and as a committee member of Troops 5 and 11. He is a member of the Lehigh County and Pioneer Fish and Game Protective Associations, the Catasauqua Club and the Don Hill Club.

TO ALL VOTERS

STATEMENT BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTIES OF BUCKS AND LEHIGH COUNTIES

This advertisement is inserted by the Executive Committees of the Democratic Party of Bucks and Lehigh Counties to protest the indecent and vicious propaganda that has been directed at our candidate PHIL STORCH for the purpose of confusing the Voters.

The combined members of the Executive Committees representing the Democratic Parties of both Counties, unanimously selected PHIL STORCH in the manner as prescribed by the State Election Laws of Pennsylvania to be our candidate for the unexpired Congressional term in the Eighth District.

PHIL STORCH is a native of Allentown and a true Democrat, as his father and grandfather were before him, in the same community. He is a distinguished newspaperman, the father of two children, a God-fearing and responsible citizen and a Veteran of nineteen months island-hopping with the Marine Corps.

No, Mr. Grundy, the Democratic Party has not been taken over by any "carpet-baggers" from Moscow. On the contrary, we believe that those who have conspired to hide the real issues of this campaign, in a smokescreen of fear of foreign ideologies, are themselves the enemies of democracy and true progress.

We do not believe in turning back the clock of progress. PHIL STORCH is today fighting for the American way of life in peace just as truly as he fought for it in war.

We Democrats are proud of our candidate, PHIL STORCH, and we are confident that the smear propaganda directed against him will prove a boomerang to its instigators on Election Day, when the intelligent Voters of all party affiliations will emphatically repudiate this return to gutter politics.

Miss Doris J. Pearson and Robert M. Jayne Wed Here

The marriage of Miss Doris Jane Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pearson, 280 Hayes street, to Mr. Robert M. Jayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Jayne, Third avenue, Croydon, took place on Saturday at the hour of two in St. James' Episcopal Church.

Mr. Pearson gave his daughter in marriage, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James'.

The bride chose an off-white tulle gown of satin. The form-fitting model was patterned with sweetheart neckline, and full skirt with bustle back. The long tapered sleeves were pulled at the shoulders. The real flowers which made up her head-piece were white roses, these holding a net finger-tip veil. The bride wore slippers of satin, and carried an arm bouquet of white roses with a lavender orchid at the center.

The maid of honor was Miss Mildred Goheen, of Roosevelt street; and the bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Pearson, sister of the bride. Miss Goheen was attired in aqua and Miss Pearson in old rose tone. Their gowns, of moire taffeta, were form-fitting, and cut with short sleeves and full skirts. Lace mitts and horse-hair picture hats matched the individual gowns. Slippers were of silver, and the two carried arm bouquets of mixed blooms.

Mr. Kenneth Winslow, Jackson street, was best man; while the bridegroom's brother, Mr. William A. Jayne, of Croydon, served as usher for the occasion.

An afternoon dress of deep beige was chosen by Mrs. Pearson, mother of the bride, her accessories being black. The dress worn by Mrs. Jayne, mother of the bridegroom, was in powder blue, and her accessories black. Both wore corsages of white rose-buds.

Presiding at the organ console was Mr. Henry Adams, Fairview Lane. He played the bridal marches, and served as accompanist for Mrs. Ralph Hart, Bath Addition, as she sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

The reception in St. James' parish house was attended by 75 guests. Leaving for two weeks motor trip to Montreal, Canada; the Thousand Islands and New England states, Mrs. Jayne was attired in a navy blue gabardine cutaway suit, wore wine accessories, and the orchid corsage.
